At this fair you have the opportunity to meet a wide and diverse range of experts and organisations to discuss real international opportunities – with charities, development consultancies, educational establishments, international and regional institutions, and more.

Routes into international careers can be challenging to navigate. For example, many international and development organisations do not attend the regular careers fairs, offer many paid internships, or make recruitment presentations in Oxford. This is not because there are no opportunities to work with them - but they often require a degree of experience, more specialist knowledge and, in some cases, further qualifications. Understanding what is required, and how to meet these requirements is key.

Engaging with the employers and other experts here today will help you do this.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?

• Visit and talk to employers and representatives at their stands
• Attend their recruitment and information-sharing presentations

WHAT SHOULD YOU ASK EXHIBITORS?

Think about what you would really like to know...

• What is the sector actually like?
• How can you build up the experience required?
• What course of further study could you take?
• How can you network successfully in that field?
• Which aspects of your CV should you strengthen to be an outstanding candidate?

ATTEND PRESENTATIONS

Many exhibitors will be giving presentations about their organisation. Times and locations can be found on page 4 of this booklet.

Come and visit The Careers Service stand for more information about where to find resources and advice.

Form a plan of action to get you started – you could prepare some questions, target particular names, and work out which key speaker sessions and presentations to attend. Pace yourself, make notes as you go along, remember names and collect contact details. Talk to people and join in with others where individual stands / people are busy – the conversation may well be richer. Above all, enjoy yourself, and on behalf of Oxford University Careers Service, thank you for coming here today.

PANEL TALKS

POLICY AND PRACTICE WORK WITH INTERNATIONAL ORGANISATIONS

12:15 – 13:15, Lecture Theatre 1

Come and hear about the myths and realities of working in the development sector. Our speakers have worked with a variety of organisations (including Amnesty International, DFID, Oxford Policy Management, Save the Children, and the UN High Commission on Human Rights) and will give candid accounts of the steps they took after University, what has enabled them to move into rewarding roles and advice about any changes in their sector affecting recruitment trends.

RESEARCH AND STRATEGY ROLES IN GOVERNANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

14:30 – 15:30, Lecture Theatre 1

Working at the interface between research, strategy and implementation sounds exciting and rewarding – but what is it really like? What are the stepping stones following a degree at Oxford? And which skills and competencies count for joining or working alongside major international organisations today? Speakers in this panel will share experiences and insights from their career journeys and current current strategic research and advisory roles.
ACTED

www.acted.org

Address: 33 Rue Godot de Mauroy, Paris, France, 75009 Paris

Telephone: 00 33 1 4265 3333

Email: paris@acted.org

ACTED, established in 1993, is an international non-governmental organization which is committed to immediate humanitarian relief to support those in urgent need and protect people’s dignity, while co-creating longer term opportunities for sustainable growth and fulfilling people’s potential.

ACTED responds to humanitarian crises and builds resilience, promotes inclusive and sustainable growth and co-constructs effective governance and civil society worldwide by investing in people and their potential.

We go the last kilometre: ACTED’s mission is to save lives and support people in meeting their needs in hard to reach areas. ACTED develops and implements programs that target the most vulnerable amongst populations that have suffered from conflict, natural disaster, or socio-economic hardship. ACTED’s approach looks beyond the immediate emergency towards opportunities for longer term livelihoods reconstruction and sustainable development.

With a budget of 190 million EUR in 2015, ACTED is active in 35 countries and implements more than 495 projects a year reaching over 11 million beneficiaries with 400 international staff and 4,300 national staff.

ACTED regularly offers internships in the field to students in their final year or recently graduated. All expenses are paid and interns are trained in all ACTED practices and procedures which are required in the implementation of the programmes. ACTED believes in internal mobility and promotion of staff and the majority of interns will be offered jobs within ACTED following their internship. Interns are recruited all year round. The types of jobs available include project management and development, officers in charge of for finance, logistics and audit.

Adam Smith International is a professional services business that delivers real impact, value and lasting change through projects supporting economic growth and government reform internationally.

Our reputation as a global leader has been built on the positive results our projects have achieved in many of the world’s most challenging environments.

We provide the opportunity to postgraduates and career-changers to experience the real world of managing international development projects. For this, we offer a growing number of annual 9-month places on our Professional Development Scheme.

Employees on the Professional Development Scheme are mentored and tasked with real challenges, including opportunities to contribute to proposal writing and provide input on managing parts of our award-winning project portfolio. In our world, this experience may take you to projects based in countries such as Kenya, Nigeria, Pakistan and Sierra Leone.

Our projects require the highest quality people. Our staff are empowered to overcome challenges with a ‘can do’ attitude tempered with insight and pragmatism. Everyone who participates in our scheme is carefully selected. You should be able to build productive relationships with people from a wide range of professional and cultural backgrounds, to work effectively in politically sensitive and physically challenging environments and to work well within a team.

We have a strong commitment to our people and strive to live by our values. We’ve built a culture to reflect our principles, full of likeminded overachievers who are smart, passionate and great at what they do. We offer a highly competitive compensation package and excellent benefits.
ATD Fourth World is a human rights based anti-poverty organisation tackling inequality and promoting social justice in the UK. We reach and engage with people directly experiencing poverty and social exclusion in the community. Our work aims to provide support, break isolation and give people a voice on the issues that affect them. Internship opportunities focused on supporting our projects and campaigns arise at regular intervals throughout the year. These internships, based at our National Centre in London or at Frimhurst Family House in Surrey, are based on a minimum 3 month full-time volunteering commitment. Accommodation, work-related travel expenses and basic living expenses are provided.

BARBRI is the market-leading provider of the Bar Review programme that prepares law graduates and lawyers to sit the US State bar examinations. If you are interested in a career in international law, becoming a US Attorney is a step in the right direction.

Gaining a US Attorney-at-Law qualification, and in particular becoming a New York Attorney-at-Law has now become an entry level requirement for many of the leading areas of international legal services. BARBRI International can greatly enhance your marketability in a competitive legal market at home and abroad by helping you obtain this outstanding international legal qualification.

We will be delighted to discuss whether you are eligible to sit a US bar exam (which is accessible to most UK law graduates) and how we can support you through your studies.
Carfax Education Group comprises a number of educational enterprises and institutions, each focused on bringing the best of British, American, and Swiss education to private and corporate clients around the world. The group, founded in the United Kingdom, has established a strong international presence with a growing network of offices in London, Oxford, Monaco, Dubai, Abu Dhabi, Moscow, St. Petersburg, and Baku. From engaging private tutors for the world’s most demanding families to advising and operating prestigious schools, from school entry guidance for ambitious applicants to delivering education projects for governments and NGOs, sometimes in the world’s most challenging places, everything that Carfax Group does is based on the Carfax Approach that accepts no compromise on academic excellence.

INSEAD PhD in Management is designed to prepare students for an exciting career in management academia in leading management schools worldwide. The 5 years full-time PhD offers students the opportunity to be at the forefront of academic research. It is the only PhD that allows students to study in three locations – Singapore, France and the US. Fully integrated across INSEAD’s two campuses, Singapore and France, students study on both, interact with faculty and peers, have an option to study in the US through the INSEAD-Wharton Exchange Programme, and conduct world-class research in INSEAD’s state-of-the-art behavioural lab in Paris.

The programme is highly interdisciplinary across the eight areas offered: Accounting, Decision Sciences, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Marketing, Organisational Behaviour, Strategy, and Technology and Operations Management. Its intimate size ensures critical faculty mentorship and research support. Unlike many other programmes, the INSEAD PhD seeks to admit research partners for its faculty, not research assistants. All admits receive full financial support for 5 years – tuition fee waiver, stipend, research budget, and health insurance.

As many leading universities seek to internationalise both curriculum and faculty, having the INSEAD PhD gives students a tremendous edge with its global format over most management schools, with our graduates getting placements in leading academic institutions worldwide.

If you are an intern, new graduate, with or without research experience, or experienced professional, and are passionate and driven to pursue an academic career, explore the INSEAD PhD. Applicants are welcome from all subject backgrounds. Admissions start in early Fall for next year’s intake.

The ICRC is an independent, neutral organization ensuring humanitarian protection and assistance for victims of armed conflict and other situations of violence. It takes action in response to emergencies and at the same time promotes respect for international humanitarian law and its implementation in national law.

We recruit over 40 different professions for our work in conflict zones around the world and at the Headquarters in Geneva, for specialist, generalist and support roles – from medical staff to engineers, programme officers to finance managers, interpreters to logisticians. All positions are advertised on our website and all applications must be made online. Salaries are competitive, but all posts require prior work experience.

There are no graduate programmes, but we do have paid traineeships at the Headquarters. These last from six months to one year and take place in various different departments in the organisation. Please check our website regularly to find out about the latest opportunities.
The Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program annually offers full funding for up to 100 Stanford students to pursue a postgraduate degree in any of Stanford University’s 125 degree programs, from PhDs in education, engineering, humanities, or sciences to professional degrees such as JD, MBA, MD, or MFA.

The Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program will foster a cross-disciplinary community of Stanford postgraduate students dedicated to finding creative solutions to the world’s greatest challenges. This is a bespoke experience, offering a leadership development platform to empower you to drive large-scale positive change.

We believe the Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program will come to be regarded as one of most prestigious postgraduate education programs in the world.

Stanford University, in the heart of Silicon Valley, has launched a new postgraduate scholarship called the Knight-Hennessy Scholars Program.

You are eligible to apply if you earned your undergraduate degree in 2013 or later.

To stay in touch, please visit http://apply.knight-hennessy.stanford.edu/register/futurescholars.

About the Internship Office
The Internship Office was established in 2012 to provide research and professional work experience placements exclusively to Oxford students.

The Office now runs a range of highly successful internship programmes to support Oxford students in securing useful, exciting work experience opportunities throughout the year, in the UK and across the globe, including the Oxford University Internship Programme (OUIP).

The Oxford University Internship Programme (OUIP)
The Internship Programme provides access to hundreds of summer internship opportunities, available exclusively to Oxford students. They are offered by international Oxford alumni, by multi-national corporations, by world-leading NGOs, by cutting-edge research institutions and many other organisations. Since the programme’s inception students have undertaken internships in more than 40 countries and have gained valuable work experience while experiencing life in different and exciting environments. The Internship Programme also gives you the chance to explore work experience options in a variety of sectors in the UK. The programme is open to all current Oxford University students, undergraduates and postgraduates, including those in their final year of study.

Applications for the first batch of international placements are now open, and can be made online through CareerConnect. The deadline for these applications is midnight 19 February.

Further international placements will be available for application from 13 March. Applications to UK placements go live 20 February.

For further information about the programme, including details on how to apply, please visit the Find & Apply for OUIP Internships webpage.
Launched in 2003, multilingualvacancies.com is now one of Europe’s top jobboards specifically targeted at a multilingual audience. International clients such as Sega, Amazon, Truman’s Beer, Rockstar, Trivago and UK Naric, along with top recruitment agencies such as Hays, Nigel Frank, Pareto and Euro London have advertised for multilingual staff via our site.

With over 1000 language jobs advertised through the UK and overseas, there are many opportunities for jobseekers looking to use their language skills, you can either apply directly or upload your CV so our advertisers can search your skills.

There’s more to a language career than translation or teaching - as business becomes more multinational companies are seeking graduates with excellent language skills and a willingness to use these skills in a future career.

Oxford Analytica is an international consulting firm enabling the world’s leading organisations to navigate complex macro environments that impact strategies, policies, operations and investments.

We place keen emphasis on attracting and developing the best people in our industry. Applicants typically thrive in fast paced, global environments and have experience in the disciplines of politics, economics and international relations.

While vacancies are advertised on our career website http://www.oxan.com/about/careers/, we are always looking for new talent.
Initially established as the Food Supply Analysis at the University of Oxford 37 years ago, Oxford Policy Management Limited (OPM) is one of the world’s leading international policy development consultancies. We enable strategic decision-makers in the public and private sector to identify and implement sustainable solutions for reducing social and economic disadvantage in low- and middle-income countries.

Supported by a multinational team of 350 specialists on three continents, our success is based on a unique combination of high-quality analysis and 30 years’ practical experience of facilitating positive change in over 120 countries worldwide. The fields in which we operate range from health, education and the extractive industries through to public sector finance and administration, social welfare, and national statistical systems and household surveys.

We are always interested in meeting people, who share our values and passion in having a positive impact on the lives of the most disadvantaged. We are looking to engage with people, who will bring something special to the debate and activity that makes OPM proud of its’ analytical rigour and independent judgment.

We have opportunities in the Cross-Cutting team, which is OPM’s entry point for talented and passionate individuals with limited experience or no particular specialisation and want to work in development consultancy. We have a number of Assistant Consultant roles within the monitoring and evaluation team that focus on quantitative analysis. We will also open our internship programme in February. The majority of our consultants have a Master’s degree and 13% have PhDs in a relevant discipline.

Please go to www.opml.co.uk/join-us/vacancies for information about our current vacancies.

Perm State National research University is a multi-profile classical university that trains highly-qualified specialists and carries on scientific research in a number of areas most significant for the country as a whole and Perm region in particular. It has powerful academic schools and a great innovative potential.

In summer 2017 Perm State University is offering seven-week internship programmes in physics, biology and geology for current matriculated Oxford students.

PHYSICS INTERNSHIP includes:
- Programme №1 Methods of Theoretical Physics in Continuous Media Mechanics
- Programme №2 Computational Fluid Dynamics

BIOLOGY INTERNSHIP is divided into two projects:
- Lab project (5 weeks) Mining for microbes with promising biotechnological properties

The Summer Service Program in rural China is launched and conducted by Tsinghua University, Beijing since 2006. It’s committed to helping teachers and students in rural China through education. A total of 1,980 students and 336 faculty members from Tsinghua University and 969 students and faculty members from other regions and countries’ universities, have been dispatched in teams, to rural counties.

Every summer, we recruit 120 Tsinghua volunteers, 100 volunteers from other regions and countries, who show a sincere commitment to voluntary teaching to be dispatched in 20 teams and perform their service in 20 counties throughout various locations in rural China. Each team will consist of one Tsinghua teacher, five Tsinghua student volunteers and five non-Tsinghua volunteers.

We plan to recruit ten Oxford students in Summer 2017, you can give courses like an introduction to your university, your country, your hobbies and so on to open the rural students’ horizons. The program runs from July 9th to July 29th 2017, there is no Chinese language requirement. The arrival day is July 9th 2017. Tsinghua University will provide accommodation, subsidy for food, transportation to the rural locations and accidental insurance during the program in China. Please submit your application to the Careers Service, University of Oxford before Feb. 19th, 2017.
Oxford University’s Alumni Office offers students and graduates unrivalled opportunities to connect with Oxford alumni via the Oxford Alumni Community www.oxfordalumnicomunity.org – a professional networking platform. Select your preferred industry and location and the platform will search for a mentor to suit your requirements from a pool of more than 8,000 willing alumni volunteers. You can also filter by college and degree. Come and find out more and sign up to the platform at the Oxford Alumni stand at the Oxford University International Careers Day.

In addition, visit the stand to find out about the many other benefits available to you once you graduate. These include:

- Accessing online educational resources such as JSTOR
- Joining one of Oxford’s more than 200 alumni groups in 90 countries worldwide
- Joining Oxford 10 – a London-based alumni group for young graduates
- Participating in professional networking events organised by the Alumni Office in the UK
- Taking part in Alumni Weekends across the world, including in Asia, North America, continental Europe, and Oxford
- Claiming discounts across Oxford (Blackwell’s bookshop, restaurants, hotels, shops, museums) with your Oxford Alumni Card

The Alumni Office also offers internships for students, ranging from week-long micro-internships focused on communications to a three-month summer internship focused on preparing for the Alumni Office’s flagship annual event - the Alumni Weekend in Oxford in September. The Alumni Office enhances relationships between the international community of more than 275,000 alumni and the collegiate University. Its goal is to help alumni stay connected with each other, and encourage them to discover, and be inspired by, the University’s world-leading research and impact. The World Bank Group (WBG) is an umbrella organization that includes five international organizations that make leveraged loans to developing countries. Its five organizations are the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (IBRD), the International Development Association (IDA), the International Finance Corporation (IFC), the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency (MIGA) and the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID). It is the largest development Bank.

The World Bank Group has set two goals for the world to achieve by 2030:

- End extreme poverty by decreasing the percentage of people living on less than $1.90 a day to no more than 3%
- Promote shared prosperity by fostering the income growth of the bottom 40% for every country

The World Bank is a vital source of financial and technical assistance to developing countries around the world. We are not a bank in the ordinary sense but a unique partnership to reduce poverty and support development. Established in 1944, the World Bank Group is headquartered in Washington, D.C. We have more than 10,000 employees in more than 120 offices worldwide.

The World Bank Group offers a number of unique recruitment programs for early career professionals that provide learning, staffing and capacity building opportunities for junior and mid-career professionals. Programs like the World Bank Young Professionals Programs, the World Bank Group Analyst Program and the Bank Internship Program as well as, more generally, the International Finance Corporation Young Professionals Programs, Investment Analyst Program and Internship Program. All the applications are done online.
