WELCOME TO THE FAIR

At this fair you have the opportunity to meet a wide and diverse range of experts and organisations to discuss international opportunities – with charities, development consultancies, educational establishments, international and regional institutions, and more.

Routes into international careers can be challenging to navigate. For example, many international and development organisations do not attend the regular careers fairs, offer many paid internships, or make recruitment presentations in Oxford. This is not because there are no opportunities to work with them - but they often require a degree of experience, more specialist knowledge and, in some cases, further qualifications. Understanding what is required, and how to meet these requirements is key.

Engaging with the employers and other experts here today will help you do this.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?

- Visit and talk to employers and representatives at their stands

WHAT SHOULD YOU ASK EXHIBITORS?

Think about what you would really like to know...

- What is the sector actually like?
- How can you build up the experience required?
- What course of further study could you take?
- How can you network successfully in that field?
- Which aspects of your CV should you strengthen to be an outstanding candidate?

ATTEND TALKS

Times and locations can be found within this booklet.

Come and visit The Careers Service stand for more information about where to find resources and advice.

Form a plan of action to get you started – you could prepare some questions, target particular names, and work out which key speaker sessions to attend. Pace yourself, make notes as you go along, remember names and collect contact details. Talk to people and join in with others where individual stands / people are busy – the conversation may well be richer. Above all, enjoy yourself, and on behalf of Oxford University Careers Service, thank you for coming here today.
ALUMNI ADVICE

PANEL TALKS

CAREERS IN GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC POLICY
11:45 – 12:30, Lecture Theatre 1
Come and hear about the reality of working within governments and NGOs to shape public policy. Our speakers come from a range of geographies, with experience working in national governments and organisations and will give candid accounts of their experiences, including how they started on this career path, their current roles and future ambitions - you will also have the chance to ask questions. This is a great opportunity to learn more about whether a career in government and/or public policy is for you.

CAREERS IN DEVELOPMENT POLICY AND PRACTICE
13:15 – 14:00, Lecture Theatre 1
Working at the interface between research, strategy and implementation sounds exciting and rewarding – but what is it really like? What skills are sought for the various roles, and how can one step towards these following a degree at Oxford?

Come and hear about the myths and realities of working in development policy and practice. Our speakers have worked with a variety of organisations (including HelpAge International, DFID, Options Consulting, Oxford Policy Management, Save the Children, and the World Bank) and will give candid accounts of the steps they took after University, what has enabled them to move into rewarding roles and advice about any changes in their sector affecting recruitment trends.

TALK
14:15 – 14:45 International Job Search Strategy, Lecture Theatre 1
Since 1993, as an international non-governmental organization, ACTED has been committed to immediate humanitarian relief to support those in urgent need and protect people’s dignity, while co-creating longer term opportunities for sustainable growth and fulfilling people’s potential. The Daiwa Anglo-Japanese Foundation is a UK charity supporting UK-Japan links through awarding scholarships, offering grants to support UK-Japan collaboration and organising events including seminars, and exhibitions at its London headquarters.

It offers Daiwa Scholarships for UK nationals, who have no Japanese ability, to study Japanese, undertake a one-month homestay and a 6-month work placement in Japan. Daiwa Scholarships in Japanese Studies support UK nationals with a degree in Japanese Studies to pursue postgraduate Japan-related studies in either the UK or Japan.

(1) The Daiwa Scholarship is a unique approximately 19-month programme of language study, work placement and homestay in Japan, following a period of Japanese tuition in the UK. It offers young and talented UK citizens with strong leadership potential, the opportunity to acquire Japanese language skills, and to access expertise and knowledge relevant to their career goals. Application deadline for the 2019 programme: Thursday, 6 December 2018.

(2) The Daiwa Scholarship in Japanese Studies is a postgraduate Scholarship programme to support Japanese Studies in either Japan or the UK. Only UK nationals who have or are completing an Honours Degree in Japanese, defined as a course focussing primarily on the study of Japan and containing a substantial Japanese language component, are eligible to apply.

The Scholarship will cover university fees and living expenses, at a rate of £1,000 per month for periods spent in the UK, and ¥260,000 per month for periods spent in Japan.

Application deadline for the 2018 programme: 25 January 2018 (last Thursday in January); Interviews: 1 March 2018.
Dalberg Advisors is a strategic advisory firm combining the best of private sector strategy skills and rigorous analytical capabilities with deep knowledge and networks across emerging and frontier markets. We work collaboratively across the public, private and philanthropic sectors to fuel inclusive growth and help clients achieve their goals. Established in 2001, Dalberg operates from 17 worldwide locations and has successfully completed over 1,300 engagements for more than 500 clients.

About our clients
Our clients come to us with some of the most difficult global problems, seeking solutions where the obvious ones have failed. We supply new ideas, drawing from a deep base of knowledge that cuts across sectors and geographies and is growing every day. We create value for clients focused on social impact by using on-the-ground research and rigorous business analysis to help governments, foundations, international agencies, NGOs, and corporations develop strategies and assess programs in areas such as access to finance, inclusive growth, global health, and energy and the environment.

Join our team!
Our current opportunities for university graduates are for Summer Analyst positions in Geneva, London, and Paris. Candidates with minimum 2 years of work experience as a top performer at a leading international management consultancy should apply to our Summer Consultant position. Genesis Analytics was one of the first Economics-based consulting firms in Africa and has since grown into the largest. While economics is a core tool, we apply many other tools – financial, strategic and evaluative – to improve decisions and unlock value. We work with both private and public sector clients, as well as donor organisations and foundations with the purpose of unlocking value in Africa.

Genesis advises public and private sector clients in emerging markets on competition, financial strategy, regulation, development, monitoring and evaluation, applied behavioural economics, health, and infrastructure and PPP projects.

Genesis has completed more than 900 assignments in over 35 countries across Africa, Asia and the Middle East. In the economic development space, we design, implement and evaluate projects for bilateral and multilateral donor agencies, as well as development finance institutions. Through this work, we inform policy decisions at the highest levels of government and impact the livelihoods of the most vulnerable communities. We are therefore driven to unlock maximum value through every intervention.

At Genesis Analytics, we constantly look for curious minds that aim to extrapolate empirical data into inspiring results. Ideal candidates are passionate, self-motivated, energetic and driven problem solvers. Although we predominantly recruit candidates with Economics qualifications, we also welcome and appreciate candidates who have studied postgraduate qualifications in the following or related disciplines:

- Finance
- Public Health
- International Relations
- Monitoring and Evaluation
- Social Sciences
- Public Policy

INSEAD PhD in Management is designed to prepare students for an exciting career in management academia in leading management schools worldwide. The 5 years full-time PhD offers students the opportunity to be at the forefront of academic research. It is the only PhD that allows students to study in three locations – Singapore, France and the US. Fully integrated across INSEAD’s two campuses, Singapore and France, students study on both, interact with faculty and peers, have an option to study in the US through the INSEAD-Wharton Exchange Programme, and conduct world-class research in INSEAD’s state-of-the-art behavioural lab in Paris.

The programme is highly interdisciplinary across the eight areas offered: Accounting, Decision Sciences, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Marketing, Organisational Behaviour, Strategy, and Technology and Operations Management. Its intimate size ensures critical faculty mentorship and research support. Unlike many other programmes, the INSEAD PhD seeks to admit research partners for its faculty, not research assistants. All admits receive full financial support for 5 years – tuition fee waiver, stipend, research budget, and health insurance.

For more info, visit www.insead.edu/phd/financing.

As many leading universities seek to internationalise both curriculum and faculty, having the INSEAD PhD gives students a tremendous edge with its global format over most management schools, with our graduates getting placements in leading academic institutions worldwide.

If you are an intern, new graduate, with or without research experience, or a research fellow, and are passionate and driven to pursue an academic career in management, explore the INSEAD PhD. Applicants are welcome from all subject backgrounds. Admissions start in early Fall for next year's intake.
The ICRC is an independent, neutral organization ensuring humanitarian protection and assistance for victims of armed conflict and other situations of violence. It takes action in response to emergencies and at the same time promotes respect for international humanitarian law and its implementation in national law.

Oxford Policy Management is committed to helping low- and middle-income countries achieve growth and reduce poverty and disadvantage through public policy reform.

What sets us apart?

1. Our focus on the lasting, positive impact of our work
2. The breadth of our experience and expertise
3. Our analytical rigour

As both thinkers and doers, we work alongside our clients to design and shape policies to enable change where it’s needed most.

We believe that good public policy can transform the lives of millions of people. That’s why we work with governments in low- and middle-income countries to help bring about lasting, positive change. We do this by partnering with policymakers to research evidence, develop policy, support its implementation, and evaluate its impact.

We are always interested to have talented graduates join us and this can be done in 2 ways:

- By joining the Cross Cutting team which is our entry point for talented and passionate early-career consultants. It gives them the opportunity to explore their interests in international development by working on projects across OPM. You would gain exposure to various development sectors (education, finance and private sector, nutrition, etc.), functional areas (monitoring and evaluation, research and data collection methods, etc.) or geographical areas (through projects in one of our country offices).

- By joining us for our summer internships. Our interns get involved on actual OPM projects and are given the opportunities to add values to live projects with real life impact.

Schwarman Scholars is a fully-funded scholarship program, based at the distinguished Tsinghua University in Beijing, designed to ensure that the next generation of business, political and civil society leaders around the world can effectively serve as bridges between China and the rest of the world. We aim to achieve this by (1) recruiting promising young leaders from around the world, people who have the ambition and talent to take on executive roles in government, civil society, or business and who have a commitment to building understanding among people with differing perspectives; (2) educating them about China’s global role via a one-year Master’s in global affairs at Tsinghua and (3) linking them to senior mentors in their field in China and to their peers among China’s rising young leaders.

Applications for the 2019-2020 class opens April 2018, with selections made in November 2018. (Applicants with Chinese passports apply by May 2018, with selections made in September 2018). To learn more visit: www.schwarzmanscholars.org

Scholars will hone their leadership skills through a curriculum designed by leading academics from around the globe and frequent interactions with distinguished guest lecturers. Additionally, Scholars will spend considerable time outside the classroom developing first hand exposure to China and its people through thematic study tours, a mentoring program and internships with key employers in Beijing. All classes will be taught in English, and students will have the opportunity to study Mandarin. Schwarman Scholars will recruit an internationally diverse cohort each year, welcoming applicants up to age 28.

Tsinghua Educational Poverty Alleviation Association aims to gather the high quality educational resources to help the students and teachers in undeveloped areas in China through education. The association organizes voluntary teaching programs at the weekend during the semester and in the summer vacation, and also provides high quality online courses for primary and middle school for free. Every summer, volunteers from UK, US and so on join the voluntary teaching program, accompanied by Tsinghua students, and share their knowledge and experiences to open the local students and teachers’ horizon of the world. Before the voluntary teaching, International interns will participate in a one week Chinese History Learning course in which they will visit and be trained in Beijing, Shaanxi province and Henan Province. This is followed by two weeks’ voluntary teaching at primary or middle schools in undeveloped counties. For July 1st to 25th 2018, we plan to recruit ten Oxford volunteers and provide free accommodation and transportation in China during the program. Oxford students can apply to the program through the Careers Service.
Oxford University’s Alumni Office enhances relationships between the international community of more than 300,000 alumni and the collegiate University. Its goal is to help alumni stay connected with each other, and encourage them to discover, and be inspired by, the University’s world-leading research and impact.

Regarding careers support, the Alumni Office offers students and graduates unrivalled opportunities to connect with Oxford alumni via the Oxford Alumni Community – a professional networking platform. Once you have joined the platform, select your preferred industry and location and the platform will search for a mentor to suit your requirements from a pool of more than 8,000 willing alumni volunteers. You can also filter by college and degree. Come and find out more and sign up to the platform at the Oxford Alumni stand at the Oxford University International Careers Day.

In addition, visit the stand to find out about the many other benefits available to you once you graduate. These include:

- On-going support and advice from a careers advisor
- Access to online journals such as JSTOR
- Discounts across Oxford (Blackwell’s bookshop, restaurants, hotels, shops, museums) with your Oxford Alumni Card
- Access to Oxford’s more than 200 alumni groups in 90 countries worldwide
- For those living in and around London, joining Oxford 10 – a London-based alumni group for young graduates
- Invitations to the annual Oxford Alumni Weekend as well as biennial alumni events around the world, including in Asia, North America and continental Europe

The Alumni Office also offers internships for students, ranging from week-long micro-internships focused on communications to a three-month summer internship focused on preparing for the Alumni Office’s flagship annual event - the Alumni Weekend in Oxford in September.

Staying in the UK to Work - Visa and Immigration Advice

The immigration rules for international students and recent graduates change frequently. Up to date visa information and advice is extremely important for those who wish to remain in the UK to work.

An Adviser from the Student Information and Advisory Service will be attending the Careers Fair to answer questions about the work schemes currently available and other queries you may have regarding your (or your family's) immigration.

The World Bank Group

www.worldbank.org/

Address: 1818 H Street, N.W. Washington, DC 20433, USA

The World Bank Group (WBG) is an umbrella organization that includes five international organizations that make leveraged loans to developing countries. Its five organizations are the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development(IBRD), the International Development Association(IDA), the International Finance Corporation(IFC), the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency(MIGA) and the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes(ICSID). It is the largest development Bank.

The World Bank Group has set two goals for the world to achieve by 2030:

- End extreme poverty by decreasing the percentage of people living on less than $1.90 a day to no more than 3%
- Promote shared prosperity by fostering the income growth of the bottom 40% for every country

The World Bank is a vital source of financial and technical assistance to developing countries around the world. We are not a bank in the ordinary sense but a unique partnership to reduce poverty and support development. Established in 1944, the World Bank Group is headquartered in Washington, D.C. We have more than 15,000 employees in more than 120 offices worldwide.

The World Bank Group offers several unique recruitment programs for early career professionals that provide learning, staffing and capacity building opportunities for junior and mid-career professionals. Programs like the World Bank Young Professionals Programs, the World Bank Group Analyst Program and the Bank Internship Program as well as, more generally, the International Finance Corporation Young Professionals Programs, Investment Analyst Program and Internship Program. All the applications are done online. We also publish different career opportunities in our Careers page.
